MANAGER COMMENTS

Stock Trading GBP lost 1.29% during March, this whilst stock markets around the world fell, the accounts benchmark (FTSE 100) closed the month down 2.58%. As the month opened, I had taken action to reduce equity exposure, this was done because I had anticipated the stock market sell-off. The market had fallen almost 4% by the 11th, importantly the move lower had provided the opportunity to reposition. Lloyds Banking Group stock was sold on the 5th of March at 73.71 and required the stock at 67.92 on the 12th of March. Other equity positions closed included all holdings in Tesco plc, Anglo American plc and Carnival Cooperation plc and as envisaged I was able to reacquire these consumer cyclical but at a far lower book cost on the 12th, the upside potential for CCL.L looks good as move closer to summer. Finally with month end approaching I sold British American Tobacco plc stock on the 27th, taking both the profits and capital back to safety. As the month ended, the profitable trades closed were not sufficient to book an overall gain for the account this month.

The Market - As we neared month end British equities got spooked as Donald Trump announced that there would be new tariffs on all foreign-made vehicles and auto parts, this pushed the market lower on Thursday the 27th, with mining stocks leading the declines. There is a growing concern that we could be nearing a global trade war. Any positive news on tariffs would certainly rally the market.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

RIO Stock Trading GBP is a high-risk trading platform through which RIO can invest in currency, UK equities, and the commodity market. The account may also invest in other high-risk traded securities, where the potential gains are deemed to be in line with the risk-reward ratio, at the discretion of the investment manager. The trading strategy favours a midterm investment of between 2-3 years due to the expected short-term volatility.

As an active investment specialist, market volatility can create a prime investment opportunity and RIO expects further volatility, especially against the current backdrop. Geopolitical tensions are at fever pitch as the effects of Russia's invasion of Ukraine make negotiations tense. The knock-on effects of this are reflected in the stock values of UK-listed companies.

RIO Stock Trading GBP will focus predominantly on trading those entities listed on the FTSE 100 index and has already identified several trading opportunities.

Please note that this investment is only suitable for those prepared to accept the additional risk, in exchange for the potential reward.
