MANAGER COMMENTS

RIO Stock Trading GBP posted a gain of 0.25% during October, in stark contrast to the accounts benchmark, the FTSE 100, which reported a loss of 1.54% in the same period. It is worth noting that this investment has posted 14 consecutive gains.

Market - The FTSE 100 hit its lowest level in August when the UK Finance Minister Rachel Reeves confirmed that she would raise taxes by 40 billion pounds ($52 billion) annually in her first budget. The most brutally hit was rate-sensitive areas of the market, as markets temper their expectations for how quickly the Bank of England will cut interest rates. Should interest rates remain higher for longer, this would not be good news for house builders and retailers hoping for reduced pressures on household finances. This is why banks were among the select few risers on the FTSE 100, as they stand to benefit from a stronger interest rate environment as they can charge more for lending. The market has reduced expectations for BoE rate cuts after the budget, as the UK's fiscal watchdog forecasts 2.6% inflation next year, which is higher than previously expected. Bond yields rose, and many still anticipate a rate cut next week amid increased borrowing.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

RIO Stock Trading GBP is a high-risk trading platform through which RIO can invest in currency, UK equities, and the commodity market. The account may also invest in other high-risk traded securities, where the potential gains are deemed to be in line with the risk-reward ratio, at the discretion of the investment manager. The trading strategy favours a midterm investment of between 2-3 years due to the expected short-term volatility.

As an active investment specialist, market volatility can create a prime investment opportunity and RIO expects further volatility, especially against the current backdrop. Geopolitical tensions are at fever pitch as the effects of Russia's invasion of Ukraine make negotiations tense. The knock-on effects of this are reflected in the stock values of UK-listed companies.

RIO Stock Trading GBP will focus predominantly on trading those entities listed on the FTSE 100 index and has already identified several trading opportunities.

Please note that this investment is only suitable for those prepared to accept the additional risk, in exchange for the potential reward.
